STATISTICS AND TRENDS

Developed in partnership with Polaris and Liberty Shared, it combines the three biggest victim of human trafficking case datasets in the world, and results in one centralized dataset.

EXAMPLES OF IOM PROGRAMMATIC RESPONSES

PREVENTION

Through information campaigns and outreach, IOM seeks to equip vulnerable populations with the information they need to migrate safely and access assistance when necessary. IOM also aims to address the root causes of vulnerability to trafficking through programming at the household, community, and structural levels.

- In Ireland, IOM launched the Anyone Campaign. This campaign aims to raise awareness of warning signs of trafficking to facilitate identification of potential trafficking situations, highlighting that anyone can be trafficked and that victims can be hiding in plain sight.
- In Slovakia, IOM and its partners have developed the mobile application SAFE Travel & Work Abroad, which highlights the risks of human trafficking in a form of interactive game.
- In Hungary, IOM implements a public information campaign aimed at educating the public about human trafficking, and informing people about how to be responsible consumers in order to reduce demand for goods and services produced by trafficked persons.

PROSECUTION

IOM assists law enforcements and justice officials efforts, with model legislation, policies, operating procedures, and tools, to identify, investigate, and prosecute human trafficking, applying victim-centred approaches.

- In Romania, the Leading a United Pathway to anti-Trafficking Action \(LUPTA\) project contributes to improve investigation and prosecution of trafficking in persons' cases using a victim-centered approach.

PROTECTION

IOM provides protection and assistance to victims of trafficking. To support individuals and a chance at a new life, IOM's assistance can include safe accommodation, medical and psychosocial support, and assisted voluntary return and reintegration.

- In Switzerland, IOM supports the Assisted Voluntary Return and Reintegration of victims of trafficking and cabaret dancers who have been exploited in Switzerland.
- In the United-Kingdom, the Skills Training and Reintegration \(STAR\) project focuses on supporting survivors of human trafficking on their journey towards employment and integration in the UK through skills development training and personalised employment support.
- In France, IOM supported the creation of a trans-national referral mechanism to support the identification, referral and assistance of victims of trafficking who needed a dedicated support upon return in their countries of origin.

PARTNERSHIP

IOM works in partnership with governments, the United Nations, international and non-governmental organizations and the private sector on all aspects of counter-trafficking responses – prevention, protection, and prosecution. IOM also aims to support all actors in combatting human trafficking through capacity building activities.

- In Malta, IOM worked with the Government to enhance identification, referral and protection of victims of trafficking, by strengthening the capacity of numerous partners. For this purpose, IOM facilitated the setting up of a Multi-Agency Working Group tasked with making the trafficking indicators actionable.
- In Poland, IOM is working to enhance the capacity of Border Guard officers to prevent and detect trafficking in human beings through trainings and exchange of good practices with other countries.
- In Ireland, IOM contributes to strengthen the skills and knowledge of State professionals and services in supporting potential and suspected victims of Gender-based violence and trafficking.
